struck out nine men and gave two bases on balls.

At the end of the tenth inning it was too dark to see the ball, and Umpire Hoffner called the game. More than a thousand enthusiastic fans left the park, regretting that the Lawmakers didn't take the game, but fully satisfied with the exhibition. For on no diamond this season, either in this league or the big leagues, has, a ten-inning game been played without either nine making a fun-Richmond had only one error, Reeve at short making this one. It was, however, not a costly error, and didn't amount to anything in the final come out. Norfolk made three errors, Benbow, McMahon and Seitz making them. Seitz had some hard luck with his, getting the ball at short in plenty of time, but slipping just as he was in the act of throwing to first.

Not a Man to Third.

Not a Man to Third.

Not a Man to Third.

Not a man reached third base for eithernine. Twice Richmond had a runner at second, and Norfolk duplicated the vick. But the sack nearest the lunch courter was never inhabited by a runner. They remained away from it as though they were afraid of some great calamity.

Hicks played a wonderful game in right field. In the fifth inning bloMahon put the timber to the leather with force enough to send the sizzling sphere almost to te fence. Through the air the buil whistled, and the revolutions made it curve. Hicks went far away from terrafirma and stuck out one paw. Into this paw landed the ball. It was one of the prettlest catches of the season, and very likely saved the game for the Lawinskers. Again, when Clark sent a hot single to the right garden, Hisks robhed him of the hit by fielding the ball very quickly and getting it to Shaffer in time to kill the runner.

Bepbow, at first, committed grand lareny when he took one from Cuddy's lat that everybody thought would be a single. Evans got under one that Shaffer sent to left field, and the pitcher

Shaffer sent to left field, and the pitcher didn't get any too angry about it.

The Pitchers Worked.

The Pitchers Worked.

In fact, the game was just brimming over with good plays, with fast fielding and with good pitching. It was the ability of the two box artists that did the work for the men who handled the willow. Long, Anthony and Hicks received the three swats that southpaw Stanley handed out. Benbow and Clark got the two that Long gave away.

Hopkins, the said-to-be good hitter for Norfolk, fanned the stmosyhere four times yesterday, and Smith, the catcher, didn't come up by three times. He never connected. Long had his underhand ball working nicely, and his curves were better. He also had a lot of speed.

In to-day's game, Laval, Richmond's southpaw, will be in the box, and Otey
